

Network diagram

A visual representation of a network data structure

Legend

{ Properties }

- key: value
- ...

[Node label]

Edge
[RELATIONSHIP LABEL]

This is a hierarchical directed graph because a centralised hierarchy is imposed, governing the types of relationships nodes are allowed to form. This is the opposite of the type of network structure we expect to see in social media, which is a decentralised rhizomic structure where spontaneous relationships are created between users, events and labels.